

PHOTOS: Bromley Craft Products

Wonder wall

Creating authentic exteriors can add a real 'wow' factor to your dolls' house.

Richard Bromley of Bromley Craft Products explains his techniques

Dolls' houses spend a lot of time with their fronts firmly closed, so it is as well to make them look as good when viewed from the outside as they do when the doors are open.

There are various ways of treating the exterior of your dolls' house. You can simply paint it, paper it in one of the many brick or stone effect dolls' house wallpapers or use resin sheeting. It is also possible to apply real brick slips for complete authenticity. You may also want to try Richard Bromley's brick compound. If you haven't yet seen this, read on...